

Documentary Producers Alliance

The DPA Supports the WGA Strike

The Documentary Producers Alliance wholeheartedly supports the members of the Writers Guild of America in their pursuit of fair and equitable working conditions and compensation.

Now more than ever it is crucial for those of us in nonfiction film and television to stand in solidarity with the wider community of media and entertainment workers, to help build a more equitable and sustainable industry for all of us.

As independent producers, we stand united with our fellow collaborators, artists, and filmmakers in the fight for a just resolution that honors a sustainable future.

To support the WGA strike, read the WGA proposals to the AMPTP, view the Pattern of Demands, and more, visit the WGA Strike Hub website.

Signed,
DPA Board

Established in 2016, the Documentary Producers Alliance (DPA) is a diverse coalition of more than 450 members worldwide, ranging from emerging to Academy Award-winning producers.

The DPA sets standards for inclusive, sustainable and equitable business practices; amplifies the voice of all documentary producers; and educates the industry about producers' essential role as filmmakers.

documentaryproducersalliance.org

